Question!

There has come when I must ask a question. One concerning that has caused me sleepless night and days of this question is one I have lately spoken to you and I hesitate to bring the matter to your attention again. I know a whole community to meet completely; yet I must ask the worse.

My distress I appeal to you. It may surprise to have me turn to you in this trouble, but I feel that I know you and I believe you will understand me. Also I am assured sympathy for mankind and therefore I know my troubles are yours also.

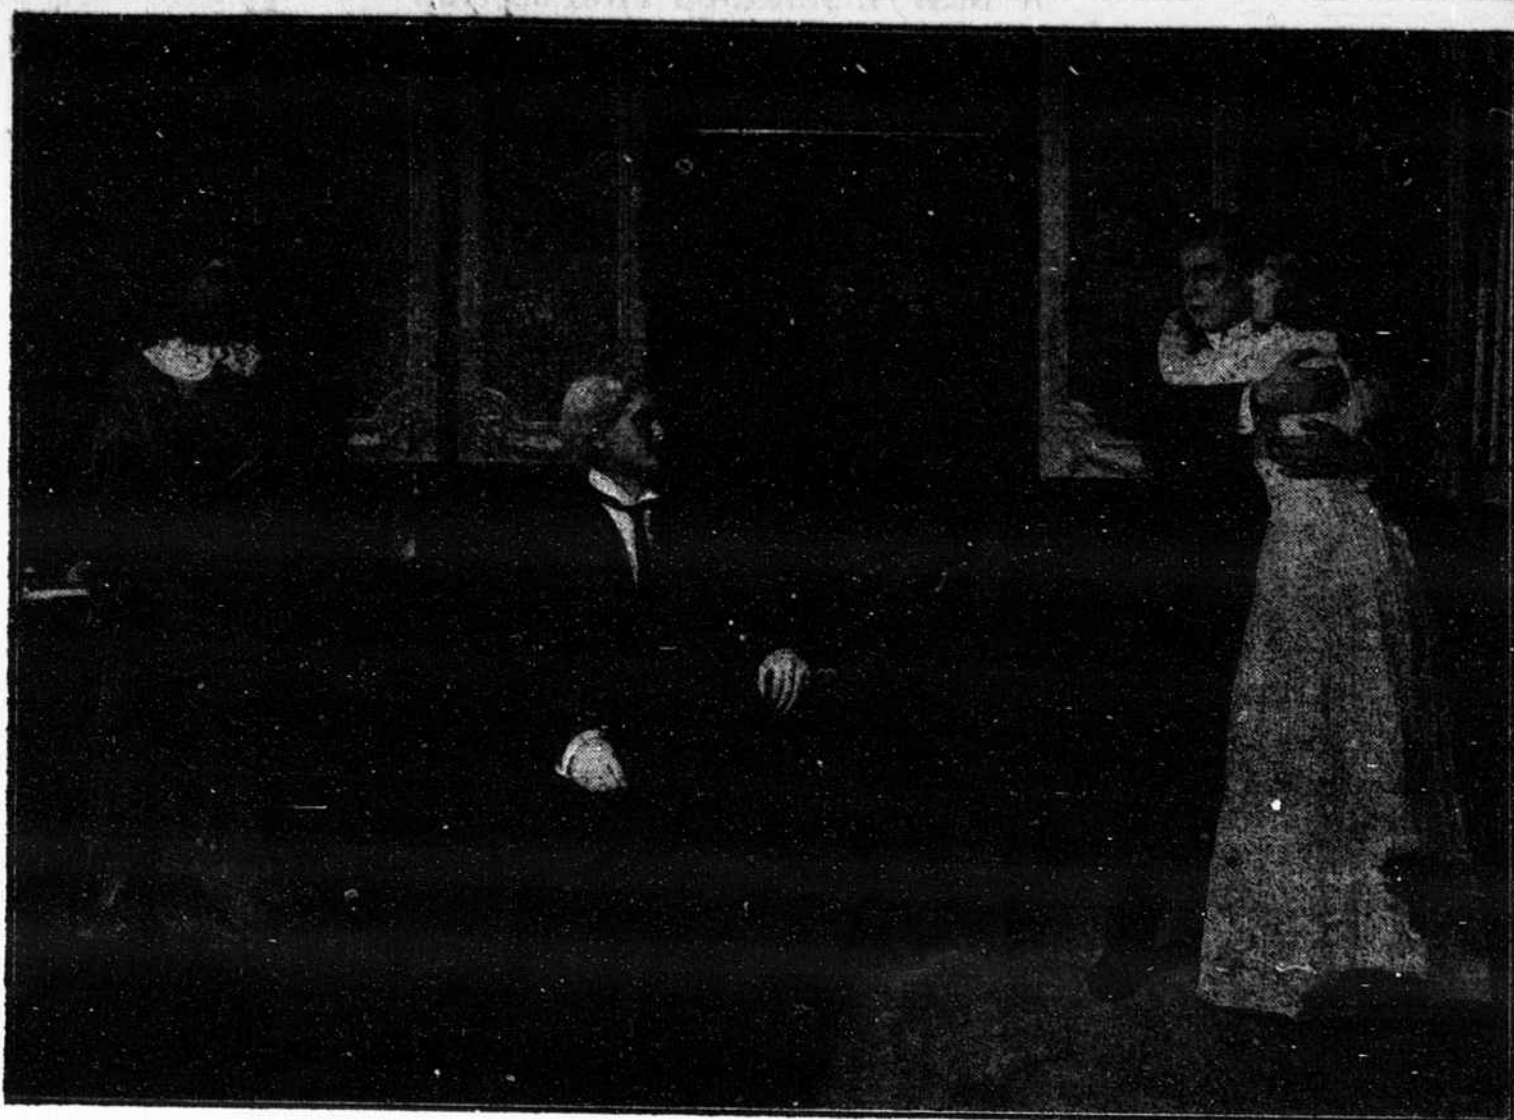

I beg you to put away all cares and all social pleasures and devote your time to the proper consideration of this question upon which I am about to ask you.

Now my friend I want you to answer me truthfully what are your thoughts on this matter. I promise never to tell anyone, as feel this is not a matter to jolly about; another thing it is between you and I and no one else. But I must come to the point. "WHEN DO YOU EXPECT TO GO IN TO SEE THE HOLLIDAY COMPANY ABOUT THAT DURHAM BUGGY?"

Sincerely Yours,

THE HOLLIDAY CO.

Minister Sued for Divorce.
Rev. C. W. Gvin, pastor of the First Methodist Church South of Pensacola, Fla., and one of the most prominent Southern Methodist ministers in this section, was made defendant in a divorce suit brought here this week. The minister is charged with having a "cruel and ungovernable temper," according to his wife.

ARMENIAN SWINDLERS.

Four Alleged Rascals Wanted in Atlanta—May Be in Greenville.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 27.—Warnings to arrest four Armenians who are alleged to be swindling church-goers have been sent by the Atlanta police to Birmingham, Montgomery, Charleston, Charlotte, Augusta, Macon, Greenville and several other Southern cities.

On Sunday the quartette appeared at St. Philip's cathedral, this city, introduced by the pastor, the Rev. C. T. A. Pise, to whom the alleged Armenians showed papers from Turkey and endorsements purporting to come from clergymen in all portions of the United States. They said they were raising funds for an orphanage near Nineveh and a collection was taken for them at St. Philip's. They were to call Monday at the bishop's house here to receive the cash for the portion of this collection given in pledges. Before the hour set for this call Prof. Isaac M. Yonan, of Urumiah college, Urumiah, Persia, who is visiting here, told Rev. Dr. Pise that the Armenians were really Syriac-Chaldeans and charged that they were fakirs. They did not appear at the bishop's house for their money and when charges of swindling were made against them they failed to find them.

CITATION.
The State of South Carolina,
County of Dillon.

Whereas, W. M. Rising made suit to me to grant him letters of administration of the estate and effects of Mary C. Rising.

These are therefore to cite and admonish all and singular the kindred and creditors of the said Mary C. Rising, deceased, that they be and appear before me, in the Court of Probate, to be held at Dillon on January 13 next, after publication hereof, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any they have, why the said administration should not be granted.

Given under my hand this 23rd day of December A. D. 1910.
R. A. Brunson, Sr.,
Judge Probate.

Noted Comedians in "Sins of the Father."

Lovers of fun and frolic will find plenty of rollicking entertainment in "The Sins of the Father," even though the main plot of Thomas Dixon's new play is serious. It is said that the favorite playwright has never pictured a funnier pair of Southern darkies than his Andy and Minerva in this new work. To use a technical phrase, these characters are "actor proof;" almost any actor could make an audience laugh at and with them. But Manager George H. Brennan, who staged all Mr. Dixon's productions, has seen to it that the very best actors shall bring out their uncanny humor to the fullest. Earl Lee, selected for Andy and Agnes Earle, cast as Minerva, are the foremost black-face comedians in the country. They will appear this season exclusively with "The Sins of the Father" company.

Justice Goff Defines "Grass Widow."

"What is a 'grass widow?'" The supreme court of New York, speaking through Justice Goff, yesterday defined the term during the trial of the separation suit of Lillian Dale Cornell Curnen against Bernard V. Curnen, a traveling salesman. Prior to her marriage to Curnen divorced Mr. Cornell.

She was asked if she had told Curnen, prior to her marriage to him, that she was a widow.

"I never did," she answered. "I told him I was a grass widow."

"What do you mean by a grass widow?" Justice Goff inquired.

"A divorced woman," the witness answered.

"Well," replied the court, "there is some difference colloquially as to what 'grass widow' means. Some hold the term signifies a woman temporarily separated, others give it the meaning you give it."

"Perhaps one might better define the two states as that of a 'sod widow' and 'grass widow,' and a 'grass widow,' the former meaning those who are bona fide widows and the latter those who have their former husbands still in the land of the living."

James W. Osborne, attorney for the defendant, announced that he would attack the validity of the Massachusetts divorce decree granted the former Mrs. Cornell upon ground that both parties to the suit were residents of New York when it was granted.

Judge Says Wife May Smoke at Home.

Circuit Court Judge James, of Kansas City, ruled that cigarette smoking on the part of a wife is not a sufficient ground for divorce. Frank L. Houk sought divorce from his wife, Florence. He testified that his wife smoked in bed and set fire to the curtains, and rolled cigarettes while preparing meals.

"Goodness only knows how many sacks of tobacco she used up," he said, "and she nearly always went to bed with a cigarette between her fingers with the result that the clothing was set on fire."

"But that is not sufficient cause for divorce," Judge James said, "so long as she smoked in the house and not in public."

Will Freeze to Death on Equator in Million Years

Washington.—In a story without germs Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, so to be benefited, all-around food pro-nosticator and poison squad investigator, last night made the prediction before a secular league audience in Masonic temple that a million years hence men will freeze death on the equator. He lectured on the subject, "Is Man to Ultimately Starve or Freeze?" He said his hearers that the earth is slowly cooling, intimating that the people of some far distant future freeze.

"There is danger that the will ultimately starve or freeze asserted, because of a lack of food or fuel."

"This may be a million years away."

Dr. Wiley declared of food and fuel to most important with concerned, and that all human endeavor obtaining these prior to the end of the world.
